For the little girl whose mother convinced her she was allergic to cats.

Most of these stories are true, except for the made-up parts. Names, characters, places, and incidents are the product of the author's creative imagination. They are fictitious. It is purely coincidental if there is any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead.

When it's time to go to bed, Pistachio snuggles in with Penelope and Mustache curls up on his comfy bedspread. Penelope immediately falls asleep, lulled by Mustache's purring and her darling bear's snoring.

But tonight, Mustache is missing!

"Oh no! Not again! Mustache, it's time for bed, not time for hide and seek. Come out, come out, wherever you are!"

Penelope looked under her pillow, under her blankets and even under her bed, but the cat was not there!

Penelope opened all the drawers of her dresser because once, Mustache had made a nest in the middle of her socks. But tonight, he's not there. She is starting to worry.

"Moustache! Where are you hiding?"
